

I don't have a lot to say, other than 'thank you.'

I know some of you are new, and others have been with us the entire three years. I also know that my style sometimes tends to pose what I like to call "communications challenges."

So thanks for keeping John and his department posted on everything and thanks for sticking with this administration.

When it comes to communications, it's never boring around here and I appreciate the hard work all of you do.

Now I'll take a few questions.