

- Thank you.
- I know this ceremony is a thank you from France, but it's also a thank you from Minnesota and the United States.
- Both of my parents served in WWII....
- Even as the years take us farther from D-day, and with a war going on now, we can't forget how important that day was...
- It's nice to see so many young people here today who will help remind future generations of how much these veterans contributed....
