

- While on a personal level I have great respect for Governor Bush I disagree with the hard line positions he takes on the issue of expanded trade with Cuba.
- My position on expanded trade with Cuba is consistent with my position on expanding trade with China. I believe that building a strong economic relationship will do more to encourage government and cultural reforms than the isolationist approach Governor Bush endorses.
- Based on the number of private companies that are involved in promoting trade with Cuba and the response I am receiving from Minnesota citizens, I have to believe that the majority of people in this country agree with my approach.
