

I am so pleased today to make my final commissioner appointment, this one for the Department of Administration. My selection is David Fisher.

David's background in the private sector makes him extremely well-equipped for this job—he has all kinds of legal and administrative experience, most recently at ADC Telecommunications in Minnetonka.

He's been a chief legal officer, a business unit manager, he's lectured all over the country, he's created business plans for foreign countries. This man has incredible experience.

He also has a special interest in technology issues—in fact he originally came to us as a candidate for the Office of Technology and when we talked to him and learned about the breadth of his experience, I realized this is the person to lead what will soon be a combined Department of Administration and Office of Technology.
